

WELSH STATESMAN OPENS CONTEST TO REGAIN HIS POST

Lloyd George Says People Must Decide Between Party And Nation.

CLAIMS CREDIT FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Treaty First Step To Rid Europe Of Armaments Says Ex-premier.

Leeds, England, Oct. 21.—David Lloyd George, former premier was today elected president of the National Liberal Council, and former Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill was elected vice president. This makes Lloyd George leader of the Liberal party.

Leeds, England, Oct. 21.—"It is for the people to decide whether a political party or the nation is to come first," declared former Premier Lloyd George in a political speech here today—the first since he retired from stewardship of the empire.

A tremendous ovation was given to the Welsh statesman as he ascended the platform. Men shouted themselves hoarse and the air was filled with flying hats and handkerchiefs.

The former premier was buoyant, happy, and smiling. The air of battle was in his nostrils. Apparently it is his favorite people," said Mr. Lloyd George in opening his address "I put my record in the hands of the people."

"The banner of party strife has been raised. I welcome the fight. But the issue will be decided by the people in general election."

"The combination (coalition) which won victory on the war has been broken up. It was broken because one party thought it did not get enough out of it."

"The coalition (coalition) which formed to be the coalition government composed originally of Liberals, Unionists and Laborites. Eventually the Laborites retired; then the Unionists withdrew, bringing about the resignation of the Lloyd George government."

The former premier claimed credit for establishing the league of nations and predicted general disarmament soon.

"The treaty of Versailles," continued Lloyd George, "was to become the charter of liberty of tens of millions of people. Although we have not rid Europe of the armaments of Verdun, the treaty is the first step in that direction."

It is assumed that the reference to Verdun was based upon historical fact that it was one of the decisive and greatest battles of the great war. The German concentration of artillery in that offensive was up to that time, the greatest ever known.

National Honor Is Result Of Modern Methods Of Standardization.

Let some may not fully understand the nature of the honor recently conferred on the Salem City hospital by the American College of Surgeons, convening in annual conference in Boston, it is announced that the American College of Surgeons is responsible for the standardization of hospitals.

The standardization means in a few words, first, complete case records; second, medical and surgical staff with regular staff meetings; third, a competent and honest staff worthy in matters of professional ethics; fourth, laboratory.

It is immediately seen that the intention is to secure to all patients the best methods and care known to science.

About five years ago surveys employed by the College of Surgeons began to visit the hospitals of 100 or more beds in the United States and Canada. In 1918 they reported that of the 692 such hospitals 89 met the standard in 1919, 198 in 1920, 407 in 1921, 579 of a total of 754 hospitals, or 75 per cent met the standard of the college. This suggests the great added protection to human life through standardization.

In 1921 began the examination of 50 bed hospitals. By request of the Salem staff and hospital officers a representative of the college visited the Salem City hospital and made a complete investigation. The result is shown in the official statement that the Salem City hospital is in the first list of 50 bed hospitals approved by the American College of Surgeons.

What this means to the city of Salem is that its own hospital, conceived, built, equipped and supported by its citizens and near neighbors, is the proved guardian of the community health, rendering scientific service to all.

This is not running on a cheap plan the results of which mean disaster when applied to human life. There is no apology for the inevitable increase in expenditure, which is expected to be met by the people in their own defense and in their own pride during the community campaign next week.

Where There's A Will, Etc. Is Proved Once More

An amusing incident occurred in Lisbon yesterday when a woman went into the probate office and asked to have an order issued releasing her son from school, as she needed him on the farm to get in the corn and do the other fall work. As the boy was under 16, no order could be given.

The mother went out disappointed, but within a short time returned with a man and secured a marriage license, and the two were married. There is now a farm hand to take care of the corn husking and other work and the boy stays in school. The names of parties were not made public.

The Hobo Colony began in the "Waffle Shop" of Mary Whipple in Boston, but when the place was closed by the police they moved to quieter zones. The stated purpose of the "Hobo Corporation" is to "fight unions, protect the elect from the restrictions of the great unwashed and to secure freedom to enjoy the untrammeled luxury of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness."

Dry Agents Blundered When They Seized Canadian Ship

State Department Called Upon To Apologize For Wet Raid.

Washington, Oct. 21.—American prohibition agents "blundered" when they seized the Canadian schooner Emerald with a liquor cargo off the New Jersey coast—an act for which this government must now express "regret" to the British government, it was disclosed officially at the treasury department today.

For the first time since the dry era began, the state department will be called upon to apologize to a foreign government for over-zealous enforcement of United States liquor laws.

The official inquiry today established to the satisfaction of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that when the dry navy chaser Hahn ventured eight miles off shore, trained her guns upon liquor-laden Emerald, and brought her into the port of New York, American officers committed a serious breach of international comity and agreement. The facts are said to establish that the Emerald, had not established communication with the American shore by means of her own boats or her crew.

The British government's protest, the first of its kind lodged with the state department, challenging the right of this government to seize the British boat, is now held by the treasury department to have been well timed.

The British embassy will receive a response to its protest very promptly, because there now is no question as to the facts of circumstances surrounding its seizure. These were made very explicit today in a special report received by the customs service of the treasury from the prohibition officials who directed the operations of the dry cruiser Hahn.

There was general expectancy today that two arrests would be made at once—a man and a woman. From a reliable source it was learned that detectives have concentrated their efforts towards piling up evidence against a woman.

Expect indictment. Her indictment was expected to follow the appearance before the grand jury of the new woman witness, who claims to have witnessed the murder from a clump of shrubs where she was hidden.

This woman is said to have seen Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills approached and attacked by a man and woman. She is alleged to have identified the attackers and given their names to the county authorities. While admitting that she heard and saw shots fired, it is not known if she has testified to seeing Mrs. Mills throat cut.

Not is it known if the witness saw the killer snatch ten or a dozen of Dr. Hall's love letters from the pocket of Mrs. Mills' scarf, tear some of them to pieces and then scatter them between the two bodies.

The woman who gives the information is said to be a member of a good family in New Brunswick. She moves in the best social circles and is highly respected. Why she was in the vicinity of Buelchug park—a lonely, isolated spot—near midnight on the night of the murders Sept. 14, has not been revealed by the authorities.

Georgia's Grand Old Lady May Serve In Senate For One Day

Washington, Oct. 21.—The prospect of Mrs. W. H. Felton, the "grand old lady of Georgia," serving for a single day in the senate as the nation's first "full-fledged" woman senator became bright today as a movement was launched here in her behalf.

Friends of Mrs. Felton, who was appointed to temporarily succeed the late Sen. Tom Watson, Democrat, of Georgia, are developing a plan which they believe will enable her to be seated should President Harding call a special session of congress in November.

Its success will depend primarily on the willingness of Judge Walter F. George, destined to fill Watson's unexpired term, to delay for several weeks after the election in obtaining his commission as the new junior senator from Georgia.

SALEM HIGH GRIDDERS HOPE TO EARN "FEED" BY DEFEATING NILES

With the Red and Black school colors decorating their machines, Salem High gridders left shortly before noon for their annual clash with the Niles high eleven. A large delegation of students accompanied the team.

Coach Vivian's warriors have two incentives in this afternoon's fray. One is to keep their goal line unbreached and the other is to earn the "feed" promised them in Youngstown if they beat the Niles aggregation. With these two things in mind a hot battle is expected.

Coach Vivian and Principal C. M. Rohrabach were in charge of the squad.

Our Vast Road Project

THE road-building program of the federal government includes about 180,000 miles of improved highway and it will require from 15 to 20 years to complete the project. With about 69,000 miles built or in process of construction two-thirds of the mileage remains to the future. It is a great job which has been undertaken, the most stupendous in that line in the history of the world. The Roman highways, extensive as they were, were slight in comparison with such an undertaking. These roads are only such as fit into the national system, chief thoroughfares. They have nothing to do with a vast amount of mileage which serves purely local needs. It is estimated that when complete automobile saturation is attained there will be 17,000,000 cars. Were cars to stand still on the highway no insignificant length of road would be required to give them space. The more cars the more road roads will be demanded, for a car is of little value unless there is a road on which it can run. With the increase of cars will come demands for increase of road improvement and that will go on and on.

In the seventies and eighties of the last century there was a tremendous craze in railroad building. Almost every community had a project for a new railroad regardless of how many they had already, yet the eagerness in those days to have a railroad is not a marker to the insistence in this day for good roads. Every center wants roads in every direction and every farmer wants one by his farm. If he owns an automobile. For generations Americans gave little attention to the highways. For the most part the most primitive in road construction would do. It required a powerful incentive to arouse the country to a desire for good roads that would not be denied. The automobile provided the impulse and what improved highways are built are probably but a starter for what the next score of years will see realized.

Speedy Justice

FAULT-FINDERS, who have persecuted themselves that the blundering in the Hall-Mills murder sensation marks the end of that swift "Jesse justice" which was as much a part of the state as the mosquitoes, have juzzed themselves into an error. At East Newark the driver of an automobile, which took the aggressive part in a collision, began serving a jail sentence of 30 days in exactly 65 minutes after the wreck in which fortunately only the cars were smashed up. Proverbial "Jesse justice" seems to be halting only in the case of the New Brunswick mystery. Starting a motor car driver on a 30-day rest in jail in one hour, five minutes, after he displayed his skill in wrecking two cars without hurting anybody in either machine, shows that the traditional brand is still in use.

The East Newark police recorder, who decided upon a straight jail sentence instead of fine with option of prison, had a happy thought. He also had the public's safety in mind in the remark to the prisoner that jail sentences might be the means of reducing the number of similar wrecks. If to the prison sentence—which should be at least six months for reckless driving—is added the penalty of a permanently revoked license the hope for cutting down the number of wrecks would be stronger.

Jinx Phone Numbers Shunned.

The Japanese believe that there are lucky and unlucky numbers. In this respect they are not unlike many Americans, but their belief is much more deeply rooted, as is shown by the extreme care with which the Japanese select their telephone numbers, according to the Telephone Press service. The Japanese government, which operates the service and has been unable to meet the demand for telephones, permits the buying and selling of telephone subscriptions and the corresponding numbers, and frequently very substantial sums are paid for numbers that are reputed to be particularly lucky. It is said that the luckiest number for business purposes is eight, because the shape of the Japanese character for eight in some way suggests the idea of prosperity. The most unlucky numbers are 42 and 49, because the former is pronounced "shini," which means "to die," and the latter "shiku," which means "death" or "suffering."

Kings Who Never Grow Old.

A curious custom of a pastoral people of Uganda, known as the Banyoro, is related by the Rev. John Roscoe.

He said that when once a king was enthroned his person became sacred, and his food was restricted to milk and beef from a sacred herd of cows.

The Banyoro monarch never allowed himself to grow old nor his faculties to become impaired. When he thought he was going to be seriously ill he called a council, arranged state affairs with the principal chiefs without giving them any reason for thinking that he was about to die, and dismissed them to carry out his instructions.

Then he returned to his private house, summoned his chief wife, and ordered her to bring him a cup of poison. He drank the contents, and in a few minutes was dead.

What's Inside the Sun?

Carbon has been subjected to fierce heat energy and to very high pressure at the same time to be formed into a rigid solid, the diamond. Carbon in the central regions of giant suns is subjected to an intensity of energy of heat far greater than any that can be secured by electro-chemists in laboratories in either highly condensed sparks between metallic terminals or arcs. It is not known what effect such intense energy of heat has on the atoms of elements, for none so intense is available to science. Atoms in the interiors of highly incandescent suns may be resolved back to primordial electrons; or electrons may never have revolved around nuclei to form atoms. Then solar interiors would be electronic by this hypothesis.—Seattle Post-Dispatch.

SPEEDED UP POSTAL SERVICE

First Exclusive Transportation of the Mails, in 1875, Was Watched With Intense Interest.

The first exclusive mail train was placed in service Sept. 18, 1875. Leaving New York, it arrived on schedule time in Chicago the following day, after a journey of twenty-six hours. Great interest was taken at that time in this all-postal train, which carried the western mail from New York to Chicago at a greater speed than any passenger train could command, and, furthermore delivered that mail at Chicago distributed and arranged for immediate dispatch to other lines, or for delivery by carrier in Chicago.

With the beginning of the year 1880 the mail between New York and San Francisco was also carried on fast trains, consuming less time than the fastest passenger train. Fast trains between Chicago and Omaha ran the more than 500 miles in less than ten hours. An important feature of the new service was that by which mail bags were caught without stopping the trains, and which brought even small towns the benefit of speedy service, the Detroit News states.

Blueberry Rapture.

Both these splendid varieties of berries (high and low growing), which are probably the best berry growing on bushes in the world, are a free gift of God to the people of New England. Beautiful in its white or slightly roseate flower, beautiful in leaf and habit, the bush is, of course, most lovely when laden down with its cerulean berries—large, round and plump, dusted over with a fine soft fuzz or bloom, and packed full almost to the point of bursting with a juice which is more delicious than any known nectar. The ripe, rich, woody flavor of the perfect New England blueberry is indescribable. In it are the perfume of the wild rose and of the clover; in matters of the palate the savor of the blueberry is precisely what the bell-like note of the woodthrush is in the domain of sound. Esthetically, as well as in habitat, the two are closely associated. Both sensations are ineffable, and quite without parallel in nature.—"Nomad" in Boston Transcript.

Misunderstood.

He was in his first week at college, and when he went to the stationer's to buy a fountain pen he felt distressed that the young woman who waited on him should know that in spite of his youth he was no high-school boy.

When she handed him a sheet of paper he wrote on it, with many flourishes, in a large, bold hand, "Alma Mater, Alma Mater," eight or nine times.

The clerk watched him with a smiler, and at last she spoke.

"Why don't you let her try it herself," she suggested, "and then if it doesn't suit, of course, we'll change it." —Milwaukee Sentinel.

Swallows Cover World.

Swallows, it has been established by experiment, migrate from England to South Africa, 5,000 miles. A man in Berkshire, in 1921, fastened a mark on a swallow and turned it loose. The bird was reported as having been caught five months later at Jansenville, South Africa. Other marked swallows, liberated in England, have been reported from Natal, Orange Free State, Cape Province and the Transvaal.

Her Revised Grammar.

Teacher was endeavoring to make clear to the youngsters the grammatical tenses. "My father had money," she pointed out, "is in the past tense. Now, Grace, what tense would you be employing if you should say, 'My father has money?'"

"That would be pretense," said Grace, very soberly.—Exchange.

SIGHT OF MONEY WON HIM

Prospector Refused $100,000 for Mine, but Sold for $10,000 Actual Gold Money.

Money's an odd sort of commodity and some persons know very little of actual cash from intimate acquaintance.

Harry Veness tells of an old sourdough of the Klondike, who had a valuable claim after several years of dangers and hardships in the North. He came to Seattle and operators who realized the value of his holdings had tried to buy him out for $100,000, but it was no use, the prospector held on. Then came the wise man who made the deal, and for one-tenth of that sum. The stage-managed proposition was worked like this:

The operators cornered their man on the main street and induced him to accompany them to a dark little office off Marion street. There they talked Alaska and mining until they thought they had their man in the proper frame of mind. They opened up the subject of a deal and he admitted he had been offered $100,000.

"And you'll never sell for that?" one said, and when the miner said "No," the would-be purchaser went to a table near by that was covered with a cloth and snatched the covering away. There, stacked in neat but careless appearing piles, was $10,000 in bright, new shiny $20 gold pieces.

"There's what we'll give you," shouted one of the operators as he saw the miner's eyes gleam. "You just sign the deed, and take the money."

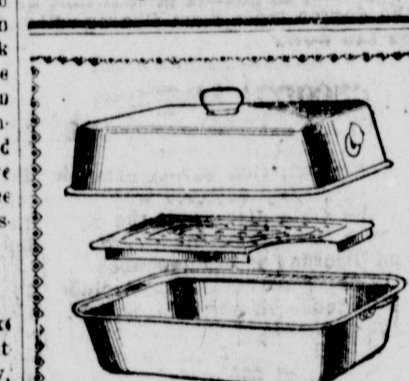

And the miner, unused to money, carried away by the sight of real coin, signed.—Portland Oregonian.

Growth Of Narcotic Drug Habit Revealed In Report

40,000 Stills Seized, 42,000 Volstead Law Offenders Arrested.

Washington, Oct. 21—Growth of the narcotic drug habit and of bootleg liquor drinking was indicated today by the prohibition unit of the treasury in reports from all parts of the United States.

Arrests this year of 42,000 Volstead law offenders is an increase of 19,000 over the year 1921. Aggregate fines imposed upon violators amounted to $3,000,000.

A 65 per cent increase in the number of narcotic law violators also was announced. The number of convictions obtained, however, showed a 100 per cent increase over last year, officials said.

In the past year officials said the drive of enforcement agents has been waged with increasing vigor and has resulted in seizure of 40,067 stills, among moonshiners and other illicit liquor makers.

Commissioner Haynes' warfare against breweries has resulted in convictions of officers in the cases of 43 breweries. Seventy breweries which were seized still are under surveillance by enforcement authorities.

That Word "Hysteria."

There is a lot of scientific truth pertaining to the physical nature of woman, concealed in the word hysteria. The classic origin of the word is the ancient Greek "hysteria," the womb.

The sexual or mother nature of woman is indicated in the word as the origin of the laughter, the tears and the contradictory conduct implied by the word hysteria.

When a man is called "hysterical," therefore, the implication is plainly conveyed that he is acting under the impulses understandable and excusable (though sometimes extremely annoying) in a woman, but not permissible in a person of the male persuasion.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

What God Says about-ABUSE OF A SOUL

"This night thy soul shall be required of thee."

If a man doesn't know what to feed his soul, he will just as surely lose it as this farmer did his.

Jesus was telling of a certain rich farmer who had so great a crop that he had no room in which to harvest it. He was wise when he said, "I will pull down my barns and build greater." It was his clear duty to take care of his crops.

He was a fool (I don't say that, Jesus said it) to tell his soul what he was going to feed it, for he said, "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry."

If he was a fool, how many fools are there in the land today? What if God said to everyone of them, "This night thy soul shall be required of thee." The undertakers would have more than they could attend to tomorrow morning.

The only food for the soul of a man is the "Bread of Life," Jesus Christ; to offer it anything else is to abuse it. But as only a live man can eat, so only a man who has been born again by faith in Christ Jesus can eat the Bread he offers. Don't abuse your soul; take Christ for life and then feed on Him in your heart.

SOCIETY

Surprise For Choir Member

About 40 of her friends assembled at the country home of Mrs. L. B. Harris Friday night where they celebrated her birthday anniversary.

The party was arranged by members of the Christian church choir and a number of invited guests. The guests made the trip to the Harris home by motor taking with them provisions for a luncheon, which was served cafeteria style. The hours passed rapidly as the merry-makers enjoyed the hospitality of Atty. and Mrs. Harris in their large home. Fires were built in the numerous fire places and story telling, vocal selections, games and marshmallow toasting provided pleasure.

Members of the choir presented Mrs. Harris a gift of table linen, the presentation being made by W. P. Davis. Atty. and Mrs. Harris expect to return to their home on High at an early date for the winter months.

Wesleyan Girls Social

Vocal solos by Mrs. Stephen O'Doran and Miss Mary Mellinger and the discussion of current events were features of a social gathering of the Wesleyan class of the Methodist church, held at the home of Miss Esther Gallagher, Broadway, Friday night. The Misses Helen Chancelor, Esther Gallagher and Doris Matthews were associate hostesses.

The home was beautified by Halloween decorations and a luncheon with appointments in keeping with the season was served. Mrs. R. E. Smucker, teacher of the class, will receive the girls at her home on Broadway the third Thursday in November.

Celebrate Anniversary

Friday was the 25th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Hodgins, Damascus, and about 10 of their friends gathered at their home that evening, taking with them oysters and other edibles for a supper. Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins moved from Canada to Damascus about three years ago. The honor guests were given a gift of money by their guests.

Bethany Girls Class

A potluck supper was enjoyed in connection with a Halloween masquerade party held by the girls of the Bethany class of the Christian church Friday evening at the home of their teacher, Miss Catherine Zeigler, New-garden st. Halloween games contributed to the jolly time and in the Jack O'lantern making contest Rose Mary Miller, an invited guest won the first prize. The second prize was awarded May McCalla.

CITRUS FRUITS BY-PRODUCTS

Experts Have Shown How Profits to Growers From Materials Once Waste Can Be Made.

To offset the serious losses in the citrus fruit industry occurring through bruised, undersized or oversized oranges, grapefruit and lemons usually allowed to go to waste, the bureau of chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture has investigated methods for getting by-products that will return a profit to the grower. Some of these products require a preliminary expense for equipment, but it has been demonstrated that the investment can soon be made profitable. Grapefruit juice, which is increasing in popularity, can be easily made if directions for pressing, straining, pasteurizing, clarifying, sweetening and bottling the juice are carefully followed. These directions may be obtained from the department.

A blend of grapefruit juice with loganberry juice has been found popular. Orange vinegar is a satisfactory substitute for apple vinegar and should be made in districts where many cull oranges would otherwise be a total loss. Citric acid is a valuable commercial article which can be made from cull lemons or limes if proper apparatus is installed.

Other by-products from citrus fruits often wasted include candied citrus peel, for use as a confection or by bakers in place of citron, marmalades, jellies, butters and pectin.

FRENCHMAN HAD RIGHT IDEA

Principles of Flying Set Out by Louis Pierre Mouillard Have Been Proved Correct.

Who was the first glider? In supplying an answer there is room for the patriots of many nations to delve in medieval annals. Italy and France have a good case. Jean Baptiste Dane is said to have made a successful glide at Perugia in the Fifteenth century, while the marquis of Baugerville, in the middle of the Eighteenth century, skinned across the Seine at Paris.

Details of a convincing kind are, however, lacking. But there is no doubt of the theoretical claims of the Frenchman Louis Pierre Mouillard, who died a quarter of a century ago in poverty at Cairo. In two volumes he set out the principles that should guide man in seeking conquest of the air. To seek to fly by imitating the beating of a bird's wing was not feasible. "Men should imitate such birds as fly with steady wings and avail themselves of the currents of the air."

Ten years after Mouillard was dead (with his dreams of an actual machine unfulfilled) the Wright brothers began the development of his ideas.

"THE STORM" IS DYNAMIC FILM STORY

House Peters Stars in Screen Version of Great Stage Success.

After all, a picture is essentially a story, and the plot therefore is the most important element. "The storm" is the thing.

"The Storm," coming as a Universal-Jewel attraction starring House Peters, to the Royal theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday was adapted from the New York stage sensation of the same name. Theatrical history was made by the play, written by Langdon McCormick. It is grippingly dramatic, and besides the elements of simple drama there is woven into it the theme of two kinds of fear that men may feel toward women.

One man in the triangle of the story is afraid of women because he knows nothing of them, has never seen anything of them. He's a woodsman, primitive and honest. The other is the product of London and Paris society. He fears the gentle sex because he has "seen too darned much of women."

The woman in the case is an innocent French Canadian girl, forced to live with the two men for four long months through being hemmed in by a snow-storm.

On this novel situation McCormick constructed a story that holds the interest to the last by its very unusualness.

The reproduction of the snow-storm scene and the devastating forest fire establishes new records for sensationalism and thrills, even in these blase days. Throughout the action Director Barker has maintained the element of suspense so splendidly that even the most thrill-proof movie fan is going to sit spellbound. Nothing like it has ever before been presented, and it is easy to understand the glowing commendation heaped on picture and drama alike by the metropolitan press of the country.

Virginia Valli is the girl and Matt Moore is the Londoner, while Peters brings his manly directness and emotionalism to bear on the starring role of the woodsman. Josef Swickard and Frank Lanning have supporting roles. 248h

In Different Classes.

A visitor in an Australian home inquired of his host's little son, "Do you go to school now?"

"Yes, sir."

"And what do you learn—reading, writing, sums?"

"Oh, yes, and I learn religion, too."

"Religion?"

"Yes. I learn the little religion which teaches that we all come from Adam. But my older brother is in a higher class; he learns the big religion and that teaches that we all come from monkeys."—Boston Transcript.

Wonder of Small Things.

The greatness of our life depends on so little! In the midst of the humblest incidents of ordinary days, the verse of a poet may suddenly reveal to us something stupendous. No solemn word has been spoken, and we feel that nothing has been called forth; and yet, why has an ineffable face beckoned to us from behind an old man's fears? Or why does a vast night, starred with angels, extend over the smile of a child?—Maeterlinck.

A Sign.

"I think that small boy of ours is going to be a poet."

"That so? Why?"

"He never wants to have his hair cut."

HURLED FROM TOP OF MOVING TRAIN

William Burke, 45, of Enon Valley, Pa., was injured Saturday morning while at work on the Enon Valley work train at East Palestine. Burke, a brakeman on the Enon shifter, was thrown from the top of one of the cars while the train was shifting.

The engine crashed into several other cars standing on the track and the force of the impact knocked Burke off the car, landing him on a pile of iron rails beside the track. Three ribs were fractured, one finger broken, and a deep gash was cut over his left eye.

Burke seems to be especially unfortunate having returned to work 10 days ago after recovering from injuries sustained in an accident Sept. 29. On that occasion Burke was struck by a flying beam, inflicting most painful injuries.

"MOTHER NATURE" AT WORK

Wise Old Dame Makes No Mistakes in Looking Out for Safety of Her Numerous Progeny.

A striking example of the effects of environment and changed conditions of life upon the forms of animals is furnished by a species of partridges living in the Canary Islands. About 400 years ago the Spaniards introduced the red-legged partridge from Europe into these islands, but as recent examination proves, it has undergone modifications clearly brought about by the conditions under which it lives.

Then its beak has become one-fourth longer and thicker than that of its ancestors and of its European relatives, and its legs have also increased in length and grown stouter.

These changes are exactly such as were needed to suit it to the life that it is now compelled to lead amid the rocks and on the mountain sides of the islands, where a more vigorous physical development is required than was needed upon the plains of England and France.

As has been remarked, if such changes can be wrought by nature in the animal form in 400 years, what might not have been accomplished in 400 centuries?

LIGHT ON PREHISTORIC RACE

Scientist Explains How He Expects to Determine Age of Ancient Central American Cities.

Prehistoric ruins in America will soon be accurately dated. This was the opinion expressed in an address on "The Chronological Yardstick of Ancient America," by Sylvanus G. Morley of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, before the twentieth international congress of Americanists.

Doctor Morley's "yardstick" is the marvelous Mayan calendar by which the ages of the ancient cities of Guatemala and Yucatan will eventually be determined more accurately than the ages of the cities of ancient Egypt.

There was a desultory trading in Mayan pottery carried on with the peoples in Mexico, Peru and the southwestern United States. This pottery found among these other peoples and its Mayan date determined by comparison with similar pottery in Central America may lead to an approximately accurate date being set upon the cliff dwellings of the United States and ruins in Peru and Mexico, Doctor Morley thinks.

He also told of his researches into the great walled city of Tulum, in Yucatan. The wailing of a city was exceptional in Central America and this fortified town on a bluff overlooking the Caribbean sea, with a wall on three land sides, represents the crude work which followed the breakdown of the great Mayan civilization in the Fifteenth century after Christ, when these early city-states fell to fighting their own race.—By Science Service.

YOUNGSTER HAD IT SIZED UP

Possibly His Frank Announcement of Situation Was Something More Than a Guess.

A young teacher of the fourth grade in one of the township schools near Indianapolis marked her pupils' papers at her home, and occasionally had the assistance of some of her friends who came in to spend the evening.

One evening the grades were exceptionally low on the papers and the next day at school, the young teacher told her pupils that one of her friends had helped her mark the papers and that she was really ashamed of the poor marks, and she wished them to do better next time.

The next day the marks were considerably higher, so she told the children how glad she was to see the improvement and that she was proud to have her friends see how bright the pupils were.

After making this announcement, she blushed to hear one of the boys say in a loud whisper, "If I'm He over again last night."—Indianapolis News.

New River.

Abbe Mermet, a famous water diver and explorer, has discovered in the Mont Blanc region a great subterranean river, with a volume of about 50,000 gallons per minute. It runs from the base of the mountains under the Saleve and Jura Alps. "This river, which has been named 'Eaux-Belles,'" sends out many branches, which have formed little lakes and wells of pure and extremely cold water in the northeast departments of France and in some southern Swiss cantons.

Abbe Mermet declares that the waters of the "Eaux-Belles," at a depth of 75 to 150 feet, have carved out under the mountain wonderful caverns and grottoes, full of stalactites and stalagmites. Some of the caverns near Geneva are 90 feet high and 150 feet broad.

What's the Use?

The business on a suburban line had increased very rapidly, but there were not enough trains or cars to accommodate the passengers. The overcrowding caused many serious discomforts. The superintendent was called before the board of directors and was asked:

"Why don't you immediately put on more trains and cars?"

"Well," he replied, "what would be the use? They are settling so fast along the line that the people would fill them up and overcrowd them just as before."

Brisk Demand for Copper.

A hardware company consumes about 8,000,000 pounds of copper annually. There are pins, bolts, hinges, screws, plates, discs, nails, tubings, wires and castings of all kinds. In a hardware store the choice ranges all the way from a brass pin to a 100-pound copper pot—from a brass hairpin to a samovar. Even the cuspidor and the brass rail of the ex-saloon are represented.

Pat as a Linguist.

Pat and Nora were sitting in the theater before the performance began, when the girl observed the word "Asbestos" on the fire curtain and inquired what it meant.

"Whist!" said Pat, "and don't be displayin' yer ignorance. Don't ye know that 'Asbestos' is the Latin word for 'Welcome'?"—Boston Evening Transcript.

Regular.

A minister from a country district had just moved into the motion picture colony, and a friend was asking how he liked his new pastorate.

"Very well," replied the pastor. "I am doing very well here."

"Plenty of marriages, I expect?"

"Oh, yes," said the parson, "I have my regular customers.—American Legion Weekly.

The Woman Who Wears a Front-Lace Corset Knows Why She Wears It!

She perhaps likes her corset looser when she is working about the house—and tighter when she dresses for the street. The Modest Front Laced then is the ideal corset for her.

You see, it hooks in front and laces in front—so that one slips it on, hooks it up, and then adjusts the lacing to suit the immediate mood or figure-condition.

If this corset fell short in any small respect, we could not take such delight in telling you about it.

NO PLAYTIME FOR IDLE MAN

Philosophical Reasoning on the Subject, That It Is Impossible to Satisfactorily Refute.

In a quaint volume published some fifty years ago, occurs the following, credited to "Jones of Nayland":

"The words commonly used to signify 'play' are these four: relaxation, diversion, amusement, recreation. The idea of relaxation is taken from a box, which to retain its springiness must be unbenched when not in use. Diversion signifies a turning aside from the main purpose of a journey to see something that is curious or out of the common. Amusement means an occasional forsaking of the Muses, as when a student lays aside his book. Recreation is the refreshing of the spirits when they are exhausted by labor so that they may be ready in due time to resume it again.

"From these considerations it follows that the idle man who has no work can have no play; for how can he be relaxed who never is bent? How can he turn out of a road who is never in it? How can he leave the Muses who is never with them? How can play refresh one who has never been exhausted?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

DIVORCE GRANTED 6 NEGLECTED WIVES

Salem Woman Also Receives Custody Of Minor Children.

Six disappointed wives were awaiting the opening of the weekly session of divorce court Friday, ready to present their claims to Judge Moore for legal separation, and in each case as it was heard in turn the relief was granted, alimony being arranged for in several cases, and the custody of children placed in all but one.

Mrs. Aricka Hoffman of Salem was divorced from William Hoffman, who is now living in Portsmouth, Ohio. She was given the custody of her four children who range in age from 6 to 15 years.

The divorce was granted because of wilful absence. They were married in Youngstown, in June, 1919. The wife also charged gross neglect of duty and failure to provide.

Mrs. Myrtle P. Raub of Salem was divorced from her husband, Walter, who is a professional aeronaut, and is said to make from $600 to $800 each week by giving public exhibitions.

She was also given the custody of her four minor children who are with her at Salem, and the alimony adjustment was arranged out of court. They were married in Youngstown in March, 1907. The wife charged gross neglect. Raub is located in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Emma C. Drake of Leetonia was divorced from Marshall Drake, whose residence is unknown. The divorce was entered because of wilful absence. They were married in South Dakota in 1904, and have no children.

Mrs. Geneva Thompson of East Liverpool, was divorced from David Thompson, and the custody of the two children, aged four and one years, was awarded the mother. They were married four years ago, and the wife stated that she was abandoned three times and has supported her children by her work in the potteries.

Thompson is at Mineral Wells, W. Va. Mrs. Cora H. Dobbs was given the divorce she asked from Victor A. Dobbs of East Liverpool, and the custody of her daughter, Helen, aged 10, was also given to her. Dobbs was ordered by the court to pay her $50 a month, and $5 per week for the support of the child. He was also enjoined by Judge Moore from interfering with her. They were married in October, 1911, and the divorce was granted because of adultery.

Gross neglect of duty was charged and proven by Mrs. Alice Niswonger of Wellsville, against George D. Niswonger, to whom she was married three years ago. The wife also asked for her child, Esther, and it was placed in her custody by the court.

ISOLATION POLICY CAN'T BE PURSUED

UNITED STATES MAY JOIN THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS UNLESS SUBSTITUTE IS OFFERED.

ADMINISTRATION SO THINKS

President Harding and Cabinet Considering Proposing Economic Meet and Conference on European Armament and Atlantic Questions.

Washington.—The Harding administration is now fairly well convinced that the people of the United States are looking with more favor on the League of Nations than at any time since the senate refused to ratify the Versailles treaty. Furthermore the administration has about reached the conclusion that unless it can propose a substitute for the league which will be acceptable to the people, the United States is very apt to go into the existing league. The President's cabinet, it can be asserted authoritatively, is now unanimously of the opinion that the United States cannot pursue a policy of isolation. President Harding has never advocated such a policy. On the other hand, he has, since the day he was nominated for President, advocated the adoption of a substitute for the League of Nations.

The administration now has under consideration a tentative course of action. The proposals are:

(1) An International economic conference called by the United States to follow the European economic conference which has been called to meet in Brussels on December 1.

(2) A conference on limitation of armaments in Europe and on Atlantic questions.

The situation with respect to the treaties agreed on at the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments and on Pacific and Far Eastern questions is influencing the administration to give serious consideration to these two proposals. Almost a year has gone by since the Washington conference met, and not one of the treaties agreed on in that conference has been ratified by all the nations parties to it. This means that not one of the treaties produced by the conference is in force today.

What the Proposals Mean.

The two steps that have been proposed, if taken, it is said in administration quarters, would presumably bring about immediate ratification of all the Washington conference treaties. The first step proposed is not regarded as of far-reaching importance, though the feeling is undoubtedly growing in the United States—as was indicated by the action of the bankers of the country in the session at New York—that the government must assist, in a more direct way than it has thus far assisted, in restoring economic and financial conditions in Europe. The insistent talk here is that if the United States should decide to issue a call for an international economic conference, this government would express the hope that the conference be held in this country, but the place of meeting would, of course, be left to the countries invited to participate.

The second proposal under consideration is for another international conference on the limitation of armaments and for the discussion of other questions which would be patterned after the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments. Behind this second proposal is a plan for a treaty similar to the four-power treaty which came out of the Washington conference, and to which the United States, Great Britain, Japan, and France are parties, and which is still unratified.

Might Bring Five-Power Treaty.

The preliminary talk in connection with the proposed second conference on the limitation of armaments is that it might produce a five-power treaty to which the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy would be parties. If such a conference should be held, and if such a treaty should be actually proposed in the conference, several other European nations, it is pointed out, might be asked to become parties to the treaty. But the present thought here is that it should be a five-power treaty.

The argument in support of this program is: (1) That it would insure the ratification and application of the four-power treaty adopted at the Washington conference, and (2) would, if carried forward in good faith, insure peace in Europe for a long period of years. Public men who have been consulted about this tentative program are very confident that if the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy should bind themselves together in what might be called a minor League of Nations to preserve the peace of Europe, they would exercise a powerful and probably lasting influence for good.

The experience of the State department during the last two weeks in connection with the flareup in the Near East has served to convince members of the administration. If they needed any convincing, that the United States cannot afford to attempt to play a lone hand in the game of international affairs.

It is easy to suit the angelic faces of little girls, and designers delight to make piquant millinery for them. Above are three widely different hats framing appropriately the young faces that smile under them.

"Beggars" Carry Pay Roll.

A cripple with both legs cut off below the knee hobbles pathetically across City Hall park every day or two. A little leather satchel is slung across his shoulder and the casual passerby instinctively feels in his pocket for a nickel or a dime, expecting the crippled one momentarily to open up the satchel and offer gum or shoestrings or pencils for sale.

But he never pauses or opens the bag. An inquisitive pedestrian followed him the other day to find out where he made his "pitch" or kept his begging rendezvous. He trailed the crippled one down Nassau street and up the stairway of a building occupied by a stamp and die factory. There the crippled one took off his leather satchel and handed it through the cashier's window.

He wasn't a beggar at all. He carries the payroll and the firm's daily deposits, amounting to hundreds of dollars, back and forth to the bank.—New York Sun.

"Gee-Whiz! How it Hurts—The Pain in My Foot!"

"Sometimes it is in my arm. Merciful Heaven, how my back hurts in the morning!" It's all due to an overabundance of that poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking the advice of Dr. Pierce, which is "keep the kidneys in good order."

Avoid too much meat, alcohol or tea. Drink plenty of pure water, preferably hot water, before meals, and drive the uric acid out of the system by taking Anurio. This can be obtained at almost any drug store.

Send a bottle of water to the chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive free medical advice as to whether the kidneys are affected. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night, take heed, before too late. Get Anurio (anti-uric-acid), for it will put new life into your kidneys and your entire system. Ask your nearest druggist for it or send Dr. Pierce ten cents for trial package.

GAS BEING WASTED SAYS U. S. BUREAU

Washington, Oct. 21.—Realizing that natural gas is inefficiently used, the many people and therefore much of it wasted, the United States Bureau of Mines is co-operating with the National Gas Association of America in taking steps looking toward the elimination of this waste while there is yet time to perpetuate the remaining supply of this valuable fuel.

"Waste of gas, the most convenient and best fuel nature has given the people of the United States, is still far too large," says H. Foster Bain, director of the mine bureau.

A statement of the Natural Gas Association says:

"The desire is not to curtail the useful use of natural gas, but to eliminate useless waste, in order that natural gas, one of the country's greatest resources, may not be prodigally wasted as other resources have been, but that it may be utilized for the greatest good of the public for the longest period of time."

"There are approximately 12,000,000 natural gas users in the United States. Very few of them get highest efficiency from the use of gas. Many waste it carelessly and unknowingly. But the waste goes on."

"Local gas companies will be glad to inspect gas appliances and supply consumers with information on how to save gas."

GREATEST OF THESE

By ALICE B. PALMER.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Dear Gram—I wish my mother and father lived like some of the other boys' folks. I'm going to graduate this month, and I don't know what to do. I'll send them an invitation. I guess, so things won't look so funny here.

"I love you, Gram—you're the only one that seems to care—but wouldn't I be proud if I could introduce my mother and father to the boys, and perhaps have a spread with mother. You'll come to graduation, though, won't you, Gram? Sit right down in front, where I can see you when I read my essay. If the boys say anything about my folks I'll make some excuse—business trip. I enclose my picture. I've ordered my suit. Father told me to get anything I want. You'll be proud of your grandson. Some boy! With love, JUNIOR."

Grandma Blank sat in the library at the close of a June day. Tears blurred the faded eyes as she read the letter. Going to a desk in the corner of the room, she gazed for some moments at the pictures of a man and woman—her son and his wife—comparing the photograph with them. Like Junior, she wondered why.

When Richard Blank had brought home to the big house his bride, Grandma Blank was pleased. Sylvia was very charming and won everyone. Life seemed sunny and rosy. What more could be desired? Then came the crash. Grandma never really knew what happened—a woman, it was rumored. Richard stayed at the office in the mill more, and Sylvia busied herself with social duties. A divorce was hinted at, but Sylvia suddenly left for Europe, and the excitement abated.

"What might have been," grandma thought. She was awakened from her reverie by a call from the kitchen, and left the room hurriedly, dropping the photograph and letter.

Late that night an automobile honked, stopped and whirled away again. From it had alighted a woman, whose dress betokened that of a traveler. Running lightly up the steps she opened the door with a latch key, entering noiselessly.

Something crumpled under her foot and she stopped to pick it up. A photograph and a letter—someone had been careless.

"My baby," she murmured, as she read the letter. Hugging the picture to her breast she threw herself into the nearest chair and sobbed.

"To think you have suffered so. You shall have your party, darling, and mother will be there, never to leave you again. Oh, God, if it isn't too late, help me to atone to the precious life entrusted to my care! I never realized until now what I have done."

Suddenly the door opened and Richard Blank entered. He thought he heard someone crying. Could it be grandma at this hour? No, it wasn't. The handbag with its foreign marks told the story. "Sylvia," was all he could say, "you have come back to us."

Sylvia's tear-stained face met his, and in another moment she was in his arms. "Richard, read this," she said.

"What a terrible accusation for us, Sylvia. We promised to love and cherish each other 'till death us do part, and an innocent child has borne the agony. Can't we patch up this breach and start anew?"

"But, Richard, that woman . . . You were seen with her many times—even my nearest friends told me that—you neglected me—you never explained . . ."

"That woman, Sylvia, is part owner of one of our mills. Very clever—Invented something. We had to keep things secret until we got it patented. I swear to you that there was nothing else. You are the only woman I love, Sylvia. Will you come back to Junior and me? We both need you so much."

The answer must have been in the affirmative, for grandma was aroused from her slumbers by Richard's voice, saying, "Mother, Sylvia has come back to us."

Truly, grandma thought, there are miracles in the Twentieth century.

'Twas graduation day. The scent of June roses and the hum of voices filled the air. The voices ceased, and presently a clear, young voice rang out with the valedictory. Before Junior rose to speak, he saw his mother, father and grandmother come down the aisle and seat themselves in the front row. Was he dreaming? Bewildered but happy, and ringing applause, he took his seat. He could hear the principal saying that Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blank, Sr., would give a "spread" to the class immediately following the exercises. In the dining hall.

The strains of the farewell ode to dear alma mater had hardly ceased when Junior was in his father's and mother's arms. Their tears of joy mingled.

One night that summer the reunited trio sat on the beach. The shimmering rays of the moon shined the waves as they rose and fell, removing from the sand all the debris.

"That's the way each day's annoyances should be washed away—by the irresistible undercurrent of love," said Sylvia.

"Yes," answered Richard. And Junior listened wonderingly.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The first lesson in life is to turn our own smoke, that is not to reflect on ourselves our personal sorrows and petty morbidities, not to keep thinking of ourselves as exceptional cases.—James Russell Lowell.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

Peas are one of the most valuable sources of vegetable proteins.

Green Pea Soup.—Take a pint of shelled peas, six spring onions, a bunch of mint, a bunch of parsley, a handful of spinach, two tablespoons of butter and salt to taste. Wash the vegetables and cook in a quart of seasoned stock. When the vegetables are tender put through a sieve and reheat. Season with butter and salt and serve hot.

Hot Cherry Pudding.—Cream one-half cupful of sugar with two beaten eggs, add one cupful of flour, a teaspoonful of baking powder, a table-spoonful of cherry juice and one-half pound of ripe stoned cherries. Mix and steam in buttered cups for an hour. Serve with cream and sugar.

Spanish Salad.—To two cupfuls of diced chicken add one cupful of diced cucumber, a cupful of walnut meats and a cupful of cooked peas; mix with boiled dressing and serve on lettuce. Another good salad combination is peas, pickles or green olives, peanuts and a bit of celery. Serve in heart leaves of lettuce.

Peas and Peppers.—Cut the tops from half a dozen peppers, remove the seeds and soak in a strong brine for several hours. Drain and fill the shells with cooked peas, one-half cupful of chopped meat, using a cupful of peas, one-half cupful of bread crumbs, onion juice, salt and some of the liquor from the peas to moisten. Bake until tender. Sprinkle the tops with buttered crumbs and brown quickly under the gas flame.

Pound Cake.—Cream one cupful of fresh sweet butter until soft, add one and two-thirds cupfuls of fine granulated sugar, beating constantly until all is added, then add five eggs one at a time beating vigorously after each addition; then add two cupfuls of pastry flour folded in lightly. Flavor with any desired flavoring—lemon rind is especially good. Bake one hour in a slow oven; line the tin with buttered paper.

He Auto Look Bad.

"Good afternoon, Mrs. Jones!" exclaimed Mr. Brown. "What a coincidence, meeting you. I ran into your husband an hour ago."

"How funny!" replied Mrs. Jones. "And how did you think he was looking?"

"Pretty poorly."

"Well, I'm surprised to hear you say that. Everyone says he is looking much better lately."

"Well, he looked bad enough an hour ago," said Mr. Brown.

"I wonder why that was," said Mrs. Jones.

"Oh, I can tell you that," said Mr. Brown. "You see, I was in my car when I ran into him."—Farm Life.

GREENFORD GRANGE HISTORY RECALLED

Greenford grange No. 1985 attended the Golden Jubilee anniversary of the Ohio State grange held in the coliseum at Canfield last Friday night. A grange of 42 charter members was organized in Greenford Nov. 14, 1874, by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cochel, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Charlton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Hulin and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Matzenbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Welkart and others.

Charter members now living, are D. K. Bush, Mrs. Joseph Cochel, Dorothy Hulin, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Slagle, Henry Templin, Mrs. E. G. Calvin, and Mrs. R. B. Charlton.

The leading purpose of the grange then was to purchase groceries and merchandise and retail them to their members, but it was short lived and they soon gave up their charter.

When on Feb. 29, 1895, the organization of the Greenford grange took place, State Lecturer Freeman was present and assisted by Deputy Master Clark Ewing of Mahoning county and T. N. Shelton of Columbiana county. 27 names were secured.

The grange's ambition was for a hall of its own, so on Dec. 2, 1912, $200 was paid for a half acre on which stood the Swedenborg church building. They enlarged the same, and on Oct. 18, 1913, it was dedicated as Greenford grange hall by State Master T. C. Laylin.

The hall now is a community center with social and educational opportunities. It stands back of the Farmers institute, supports a Lyceum course and dramatic club and is equipped with stage scenery and accessories.

The membership is 242 at present.

Tarantula Commits Suicide.

A. S. Lanier tells of his experiences with a tarantula he had captured, says the Adventure Magazine.

"Placing the tarantula in a bottle, I started walking toward my office, holding the bottle in front of me and watching him. After about four attempts to climb the sides of the bottle he either threw himself or fell on his back. I stopped walking and, holding the bottle where the bright sunlight would strike full upon him, I saw a thick milky looking substance coming from his mouth. He then raised his two front 'legs' that are located directly in front of his head, and proceeded to dip his 'fangs' up and down, not sideways like other spiders, into the secretion. His fangs were curved just like those of a rattlesnake and, after dipping them several times, he pulled the two little legs over them and seemed to stick his fangs into them. He repeated this three times or possibly four and in less than a minute was stone dead. He had committed suicide.

Some Water Power.

Thirty-one per cent of all water power in this country is on sites within the national forests, while all that on sites outside the national forests is dependent upon water arising in them, says the American Forestry association, which is fighting to keep the control of these forests out of the hands of the interior department. The western mountains contain 72 per cent of our total potential water power and of this, 42 per cent is in the western forests. This power is being rapidly developed. The United States forest service has in force 174 power transmission lines and 197 power projects, with minimum discharge capacity of $80,000 horse power.

STILL MATTER FOR RESEARCH

Astronomical Science, Although Enormously Developed, Has Yet a Great Deal to Discover.

A century of continuous achievements in the knowledge of other worlds has brought us, as Professor Eddington suggests, to the threshold of expectations which a generation ago would have been deemed fantastic.

We have giant telescopes beyond the imagination of fifty years ago. The camera has, in the minds of many of the public, almost brought the sun and his satellites onto a dissecting table. Above everything else the spectroscopic science by revealing the materials of which the sun, moon and stars are composed.

But we must calmly await the information of science which admits the existence of vegetation in Mars as to the mysterious "signals" of its inhabitants. There may be men in the moon in the breathable atmosphere of its stupendous craters. The field of astronomical research excludes nothing but the impossible. We all share the "feeling" to which Professor Eddington gave expression, "that we are on the verge of something greater than our dreams can shape."—London Mail.

WOODEN LEG A HANDICAP

Physician Had Forgotten That Appendage Would Not Help Duck in Its Native Element.

A distinguished doctor of Baltimore, Md., has a flock of Muscovy ducks running around his country place and hearing a great commotion in the chicken yard one afternoon hurried hence to see one of his ducks doing a line of dare-devil stunts in mid-air. The "falling leaf," "tail-spin" and such performances were following one another with startling rapidity when the doctor discovered that the cause of it all was a big rat which was hanging on the duck's leg. The rat held on until the leg came off, when the roddent dropped to the ground and escaped. The doctor tied the injured member and his surgery was a success in that the bird recovered, but it had a great handicap in its possession of a single leg. The doctor made a wooden leg for the fowl which answered all purposes on the land, but when the bird ventured into the water its efforts to paddle with one leg caused it to describe one circle after another so that if it finally did reach the shore it was by the merest accident.

Swallowed by London.

Cheam was once a delightful village in Surrey; today it is fast becoming a suburb of London. But it still has some respect for the days when it was simply a decorative feature on a beautiful countryside. When it was found that Cheam's beautiful Fourteenth century cottage was in the way of the road being widened, Cheam did not say either "Down with the cottage" or "Let the motorcars go round another way." It simply decided to put the house on rollers and move it back a little way, as was done a few years ago with Trinity house, in the old cathedral city of Worcester. Everybody gains, the motorist by having a wider road, and artistic folk by contemplation of a fine specimen of Fourteenth century architecture; while Cheam should be happy in having entered a practical protest against an act of vandalism.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Last Straw.

It had been a trying day and Raymond's father was rather irritable. He stood for a few questions from the youngster, but when the latter asked what caused the desert of Sahara, he laid down his paper and answered: "I guess it formed when the Israelites lost their sand. And if you don't quit asking me so many questions I'll see your mother puts you to bed before I get home hereafter."

"But, pa," came the question, "how can you see her put me to bed if she puts me to bed before you get home?" And that question was Raymond's last—for that evening.—Boston Transcript.

9,000 Members Added By Masons Of Ohio

Columbus, Oct. 21.—Growth of the Masonic order in Ohio has been steady in the last year, according to Grand Master Frank M. Ransbottom, Zaneville, who addressed 2,900 delegates attending the one hundred and thirteenth annual Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, meeting here.

Mr. Ransbottom declared 9,000 members have been added to the Masonic ranks in the last year. The greatest achievement of the order, he said, was appropriating $750,000 to build a new hospital at the Masonic home at Springfield.

MIND HAS ITS LIMITATIONS

Impossible for Human Reason to Attend to More Than One Thing at a Time.

It is quite possible for us to do two or more things at once. In fact, most of us do so rather frequently. For instance, a pianist reads the notes of a piece of music and at the same time plays the piano with his fingers. Talking and knitting, again, is quite a common "double," while really extraordinary cases of doing three, four or even more things at once, have frequently been seen on the stage. In all these cases, however, the conscious mind has only attended to one action, and the other performances have been automatic or subconscious.

The playing of the piano, or the knitting, has become so much a matter of habit as to be conducted without conscious thought, while the music hall performers who conduct seven or eight complicated operations simultaneously have practiced so often that they are done mechanically.

Work and Play.

The two principal things in life are work and play. Everybody ought to do both in proper proportions, systematically, religiously. To fail to do either is perilous. To overdo one and fail to do the other is foolish. Extremists do not know how to balance these two obligations aright. One person believes in work, work, and more work. He has too many irons in the fire. He tries to do so much work that he spends his output over a large area, and naturally it becomes thin. The quantity gets the best of quality. This person's work soon becomes self-slavery. He drives his tired, aching body when it ought to seek diversion and relaxation. He gets old prematurely. He wears out before his time. Wearing out under these conditions is about as bad as rusting out under other conditions.—Grit.

RED CROSS REPORT ON WORK OF YEAR

EMERGENCY RELIEF WAS GIVEN IN 72 DISASTERS IN WHICH 674 PERSONS PERISHED.

STORMS, FLOODS AND FIRES

Geographical Distribution of Calamities
Shows Widespread Character of the Work Required of the Organization
—Theater Collapse Stands Alone.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY

Washington.—Seventy-two disasters, in which 674 persons were reported killed and 521 injured, called for emergency relief measures and the expenditure of $1,441,486 by the American Red Cross during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, according to a statement just made public, based upon the forthcoming annual report of the Red Cross. These disasters caused property damage estimated at more than $30,000,000, and rendered more than 145,000 persons homeless or otherwise needing assistance. In one section alone, the Louisiana-Mississippi border, the Red Cross for weeks fed over 35,000 flood refugees daily.

The greatest toll of life was taken by hurricane and tornado, while the overflowing of rivers, the breaking of dams and torrential rain storms drove the greatest number of people from their homes. Fire played an important part in the chain of disasters which made insistent demands for Red Cross relief workers.

The year's disasters reported, for which the estimates of killed and injured are considered low because in only about one-third of the instances were dead and injured mentioned, included 28 floods, 19 tornadoes or storms, 15 fires, four epidemics, two theater collapses, two shipwrecks (one an airship), a bridge collapse, mine explosion, railway collision and a drought.

Where the Disasters Occurred.
The geographical distribution of these disasters shows the widespread character of the emergency relief required of the Red Cross. The detailed list in the annual report specifies the relief measures applied in the following localities:

Floods—Brazos, Colo.; Gibson and Knox counties, Ind.; Riverside county, Cal.; Perry county, Mo.; Dyer county, Tenn.; Jamestown, Ark.; Dona Ana county, N. M.; Everett, Wash.; San Antonio, Tex.; El Monte, Cal.; Robertson county, Tex.; Cynthiana, Ky.; Clayton county, Ia.; confluence of Ohio and Mississippi rivers; Green county, Ill.; Tipton, Tenn.; Granville, N. Y.; East Arkansas; Burlington, Kans.; Wickliffe, Ky.; Cairo, and Beardstown, Ill.; Vicksburg and Natchez, Miss.; Fort Worth, Tex.; Rio Grande Valley, Tex.; San Salvador.

Tornado of Storm—Richland county, Mont.; Athens, O.; Tampa, Fla.; Grasonia, Ark.; Clarksdale, Miss.; Yazoo City, Miss.; Union Parish, La.; Warrenville, S. C.; Latimer county, Okla.; Sunrise, La.; Beaumont, Tex.; Citronelle, Ala.; Runnels and Callahan counties, Tex.; Hendrick, Ind.; Orestes, Ind.; Allen county, O.; Nueces county, Tex.; Auglaize county, O.; St. Croix river district, Wis.; San Domingo.

Fire—Marysville, Cal.; Jamestown, Ark.; Auburn, Cal.; New Haven, Conn. (theater); White Plains, N. Y.; Garfield, N. J.; Naugatuck, Conn.; Middletown, N. Y.; Norfolk, Va.; Pocomoke City, Md.; Richmond Hill, N. Y.; Arverne, N. Y.; Manila and Tondo, P. I.

Epidemics—Carroll county, Va., typhoid-dysentery; Jacobstown, N. J., typhoid; Owensboro, Ky., diphtheria; San Domingo, smallpox.

Theater collapse—Washington, D. C.; Brooklyn, N. Y.

Airship wreck—Langley Field, Va. Shipwreck—S. S. Alcora (survivors brought to New York).

Drought—Marfa, Tex.
Bridge collapse—Chester, Pa.
Railroad accident—Bryn Athyn, Pa.
Mine explosion—Gates, Pa.

Texas Flood Was Worst.

Of the floods, that at San Antonio, Tex., caused the greatest property loss, $6,000,000, and the most fatalities, 100. The flood in the vicinity of Vicksburg and Natchez, Miss., rendered 31,000 persons destitute. Among the unusual disaster reports was that from China where last May the American Red Cross chapter at Peking went to the relief of noncombatants wounded during the fighting at Ch'ang Hsin Tien, most of them hit by bits of flying pottery shot up by the contending forces.

In the Red Cross disaster relief records there will probably remain as a chapter by itself the details of one calamity which touched nearly every state with an intimate sense of horror. This was the collapse of the roof of the Knickerbocker theater, in Washington, D. C., resulting in almost 100 deaths and 125 persons injured. Located in the section of the national capital containing palatial homes and great apartment houses, this motion picture theater was patronized by many persons of prominence in the official and civil life of the city.

The year has seen the further perfection of disaster relief administrative measures in every field, and that the work may be carried on to still greater accomplishments the American Red Cross is appealing for a worldwide renewal of membership during the annual roll call.

PLAN FLOODLIGHTS ON TRAIN

Illumination of Route Said to Be in Contemplation by a Leading Railroad System.

Brilliant night illumination of its picturesque transcontinental route is the plan contemplated by a large railroad system in this country, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The idea, as conceived at present, is to equip the observation coaches of its fast limited trains with a battery of powerful floodlights. These lights would be arranged to cover a range of approximately 160 degrees, with sufficient height and depth to illuminate the canyons, rivers, lakes and mountains in the vicinity of the right of way, as the train rushes on through the night. Power for operating the lamps would be furnished by the axle-driven generators with which railroad cars are now commonly equipped, and which ordinarily are never used to their full capacity.

Although thus far the location of the floodlights has been confined to the observation car, certain officials have suggested the advisability of placing them along the full length of the train. Also, further to enhance the effect, it has been proposed to employ lamps, or reflectors of various colors, which would undoubtedly yield fairylike scenes, particularly when directed upon snow-covered surfaces. Railroad men in authority have nothing but praise for the scheme, and while eagerly awaiting the completion of the initial floodlighting equipment, have pointed out the fact that there is an additional and practical value of the brilliant lights as a protection against rear-end collisions.

CAMEOS MADE BY MACHINERY

Engraving, Such as Was Common in the Earlier Ages, Has Practically Become Lost Art.

The engraving of cameos has practically ceased to be pursued as an art. Roman manufacturers cut stones in large quantities to be used as scarf studs and as settings in finger rings; and in Rome and Paris an extensive trade is carried on in the cutting of shell cameos, which are largely exported into England and mounted in brooches.

The principal shell used is the large bull's mouth shell, found in East Indian seas, which has a sard-like underlayer. The black helmet of Madagascar and the pinky queen's conch of the West Indies are also used.

The famous potter, Josiah Wedgwood, introduced a method of making imitations of cameos in pottery by producing white figures on a colored ground, thus constituting the peculiarity of what is known as Wedgwood ware. These cheap cameos are largely machine made, or are turned out by rough workmen, and touched up by the better type of artists. In some cases these cameos are made of stone, such as cornelian, sardonyx and coral, but none of them are of a high type of art.

Under Advisement.

"A newly elected squire in Wisconsin," says a western lawyer, "was much elated by his honors, but was not sure that he could carry them gracefully. So he haunted the courthouse to gather stray crumbs of wisdom from higher courts which sat there."

"One day he sat in judgment on his first case, and when the testimony was all in and the argument made, he announced:

"The court takes this case under advisement until Wednesday morning next, when it will render a verdict in favor of the plaintiff."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Mullin's Measure.

Mr. Morgan did not rise from his chair behind the air-tight stove in the sitting room when his wife hurried in and told him that Mike Mullins was in the kitchen and wanted to see him.

"What do you let him in for?" he asked reproachfully.

"He wants to buy a hoss, that's why," replied Mrs. Morgan. "You'd have made a great to-do if I hadn't."

"No, I wouldn't," Mr. Morgan said, as he reluctantly rose. "I know Mullin's size. I can't do business with him. He wants a cheap hoss. And I ain't got anything I can sell less'n $15."—Exchange.

Order of the Marshal.

In Des Moines, Iowa, they tell of an elderly Irishman, long desirous of official dignity, who was finally appointed marshal in a parade in that city. Veterans, bandsmen and school children lined the streets of the town, patiently waiting the signal to start.

Suddenly the marshal, on a prancing horse, dashed up the street. After inspecting the procession, he gave his horse a touch with the whip, stood up in his stirrups, and shouted:

"Ready, now! Every wan of ye kape step wid the horse! March!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Blue Sky and Hot Sun.

Experiments made last summer in Europe show that the amount of radiation received from the sun or the surface of the earth in a clear day is greater with a dark blue than with a light blue sky. In the latter case there is a higher tension of the water vapor in the air. It is suggested that some instrument capable of measuring accurately the intensity of the blue of the sky would be useful in observations on the variable transmission of the sun's heat through the atmosphere.

BANK RESOURCES SET NEW RECORD

Columbus, Oct. 21. — Decisively surpassing all previous records, resources and deposits of Ohio banks under state supervision are now the greatest in the history of the Buckeye commonwealth.

Resources of these institutions now total $1,548,396,710, exceeding by nearly $30,000,000 the previous high mark for resources, made December 31, 1920, when total resources were $1,518,679,471.

Deposits of these institutions now total $1,327,446,897, an advance of more than $58,000,000, over the previous high peak, also made on Dec. 31, 1920, when total deposits were $1,269,000,000.

These unprecedented gains, recording the most remarkable increase ever made in the history of the state by banks subject to its supervision, are shown by a statement prepared from reports made by those banks under the call for Sept. 15.

Delay In Solving Murder Of Doctor Arouses Residents

city are greatly concerned over the delay in the solving of the murder of

Dr. C. C. Walker here several months ago, and interested parties believe that city officials have not done their best in unraveling the mystery.

These parties are now seeking to enlist the aid of Gov. Davis in efforts to bring to light the guilty person.

A resolution recently adopted by the Ku Klux Klan of Alliance endorses law enforcement and "the heroic effort being put forth by those officers and citizens who so diligently and persistently labor for the apprehension and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Dr. C. C. Walker."

Findlay—At the 40th state convention of the Women's Temperance Union here, its members pledged themselves to support the candidacy of Judge Florence Allen for judge of supreme court.
